

STATISTICS SHOW MORE MEN THAN WOMAN IN U. S.

The department of commerce, through the bureau of census, has issued a preliminary statement giving the sex distribution of the total population and of its leading racial elements, by geographic divisions and states, as shown by the returns of the fourteenth decennial census, taken as of January 1, 1920.

The total population of the United States as enumerated at the last census, 1920, was 105,710,629, comprising 53,900,421 males and 51,810,208 females; the white population, 94,820,915, comprising 48,439,555 males and 46,381,360 females; the negro population, 10,462,331, comprising 5,205,436 males and 5,256,895 females; and the remaining elements of the population—Indians, Chinese, Japanese, etc.—which, taken as a group, numbered 426,574, comprising 260,340 males and 166,234 females.

For the total population the sex ratio expressed as the number of males to 100 females, decreased from 106 in 1910 to 104 for the white population it decreased from 106.5 to 104.0 for the negro population it increased from 98.9 to 99.2; and for the Indians, Chinese, Japanese, etc., it decreased from 185.7 to 155.6. The decrease in the sex ratio for the white population is due in part to the decline in the proportion of foreign born white persons, among whom the males greatly outnumber the females, and in part to other causes, including losses.

In three states—Massachusetts, New York and Rhode Island—and in the District of Columbia the white females outnumbered the white males. In 1920, the ratio for the District of Columbia being only 87 to 100. Of the 11 western states—those in the Rocky Mountains and Pacific Coast regions—Utah was the only one in which the ratio for the white population was less than 100 males to 100 females. The only states east of the Mississippi river which the ratio was higher than the average for the United States in 1920 were West Virginia, Florida, Ohio, Michigan, and Wisconsin; and the only states west of the Mississippi in which it was below the average for the country were Louisiana and Missouri.

KIWANIS-ROTARY MEETING TUESDAY

With Will C. Wood, commissioner of education for California, making the address of the day, and the members of the Rotary club attending as the guest of the Kiwanians, the Kiwanis club will hold at the high school cafeteria tomorrow noon one of its most important meetings. Other guests of the club will be the men school teachers attending the convention of the Arizona State Teachers association and the joint teachers institute of Maricopa and Pinal counties.

Mr. Wood is said to have a message of the utmost interest to everyone interested in the progress of education in this state, and for this reason every Kiwanian has been urged to attend. The attention of the members of the club is directed also to the fact that blank ballots for the nominations in the coming election of officers are being mailed and that they should be filled out and returned without delay, as ballots mailed after Friday will not be counted.

Kiwanians, and their guests are asked to remember that they will meet at the high school cafeteria and not at the Y. M. C. A., as is usual.

WORK ON GLENDALE STATE ROAD TO BE RESUMED AT ONCE

Work on the state highway between Phoenix and Glendale, which has been tied up for the last three weeks, will be resumed Monday under the direction of Ben J. Pearce, who has been acting as superintendent of construction under Dan LaRoe, the contractor, it was announced yesterday.

LaRoe was unable to carry out the work, and when this became known to the National Surety company, his bondsmen, the company placed Pearce in charge, having full confidence that he would be able to finish the contract as per the agreement with the state highway department; it was stated.

The arrangement was made possible as a result of an agreement between all parties concerned, in which LaRoe admitted his inability to proceed with the work, and stated his willingness to allow all equipment to be turned over to his successor, as well as all supplies and materials pertaining to the contract. The future of LaRoe, it is understood, is in no way one to his contract in this state or New Mexico. As Pearce has been actively in

Harvard Victory Over Yale One Of Big Grid Wonders

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Harvard's victory over Yale in the final of the football season's three big meetings will stand as one of the greatest accomplishments of the gridiron clans that have worn the crimson. Owen, halfback, assisted by Quarterback Buell, turned the tricks that left the blue on the short end of a 10-to-3 score. Captain Jim Robertson of Dartmouth was in poor form yesterday and it was partly because of his poor punting that Syracuse was able to win, 14 to 7. At Bethlehem, Pa., Lafayette triumphed over Lehigh, 28 to 6.

Brown concluded its season with a hard-earned 7-to-9 victory over Colgate.

Bones Of Mastodon Found At McDowell On Exhibition Here

There is on exhibition in the office of The Republican, brought by City Commissioner J. A. R. Irvine, three objects of great interest to archaeologists. One exhibit consists of two bones of a mastodon. One is a joint of a vertebrae and the other, probably a shoulder blade. The former is about eight inches in diameter but it must have been somewhat larger, as the edges show that the outer part of it had crumbled away. What remains of the shoulder blade at the widest part, near the socket, is more than a foot in width and the length of it is more than two feet, but both the length and the width are but a small part of the original dimensions, for nearby were broken pieces of this bone. Both bones were heavily sand-encrusted, accounting for their state of preservation.

The other exhibit consists of two ollas or, rather, one olla and a bowl-shaped vessel. The olla is a burial urn, containing small particles of bones which had been partly burned. These ollas are found in all parts of the country, especially in regions inhabited by the mound-builders.

All these relics were found during the excavation for the intake for the Phoenix-Vermont pipeline, near the Verde river below old Fort McDowell.

Inasmuch as these finds were made in a comparatively narrow area, that region probably presents a rich field for investigation by archaeologists.

URGE APPEAL FROM ELECTION DECISION

A petition requesting that the board of supervisors appeal to the supreme court from the recent decision of Judge Jencks in the case of Leslie H. Rhauert against the board of supervisors was presented to the board of supervisors Saturday by C. R. Holton on behalf of certain property owners within the boundaries of the Western Union district. The matter will be taken up by the board on Monday.

Judge Jencks handed down a decision in the Rhauert case ordering the board of supervisors to canvass the vote cast for the organization of the district on November 1 to take one vote from the member cast for the district on the grounds that it was cast by a voter not living within the proposed district. This order made the election a tie, as 27 votes had been cast against the district and 28 for it. Rhauert claimed in his suit that seven votes had been cast for the district by voters not qualified to vote.

The petition requested that Judge Richard E. Sloan be permitted to take a part in the preparation of the appeal as representative of the property owners and to be permitted to act as the attorney for the board of supervisors and that he be authorized to do whatever is necessary to carry it through to the supreme court. The property owners requesting the appeal stated in the petition they would bear all expenses incident to the appeal including the attorney fees. They also stated they would furnish a bond to the board to see the county harmless from all costs ensuing from the appeal.
